SIERRA GLACIERS.

In the Californian for December John Muir draws a grand picture of the glacial age, when California and Nevada were covered with a mantle of ice thousands of feet in thickness. This immense ice sheet lay in a great fold over the Sierra Nevada, whose loftiest peaks were buried far beneath the frozen flood. Mighty glaciers, flowing rivers of ice, were plunging out the Yosemite Valley and furnishing the shining pavements of the high Sierra. A majestic natural monument to the glacial period stands in the Sierra, a little north of Cathedral Peak. It is a massive granite monolith, towering to a height of fifteen hundred feet, of perfect proportions, its surface exquisitely polished and flashing with crystals of feldspar. That grand monolith stood in the path of one of the mighty ancient glaciers. The glacier flowed over and around it, grinding and polishing the surface of the stone, but was unable to wrest it from its base. Upon the smooth, flat summit of the lofty monument are boulders left there by the subsidence of the ice flood.

Muir's description of the ancient glaciers, and of their little children which may still be seen trickling down the canyons at the headwaters of the Tuolumne and the Merced, is more interesting than a novel. It kindles the imagination to read of flowing rivers of ice, miles in width and thousands of feet deep, flowing onward through centuries of time, fashioning the mountains and the valleys into those shapes which we behold to-day.

THE EDITORIAL "I."

The Argonaut has dropped the editorial "we," and Pixley now writes as "I." The editorials in the last number were bristling with "I's." There were eleven "I's" in ten consecutive lines. The other editor of the Argonaut—what's his name? (Smother?) is left out in the cold. Of course every one knows that politically the Argonaut has simply represented Pixley. The "we" never concealed his personal identity. He has chosen to make the Argonaut the exponent of his own individuality. Forney and Pixley are the only two editors in America now using the "I." A man may gain notoriety for himself by intruding his personality before the readers of his paper. But his paper loses power and prestige in the same proportion that the individual gains. The impersonality of a great newspaper, the London Times, for instance, is one of the secrets of its power. The most influential newspapers in the United States are written from an impersonal standpoint. They make a sparing use of the "we." One can read columns after columns of editorials in the New York Nation, Tribune or Sun, and not see a single "we." The great newspapers represent, not individuals, but certain principles and views. Successful journalism needs to be anonymous.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Grass Valley men seem to have no faith in cheques and drafts, and are too prone to carry large sums of money in coin on their person. Alex. Burns sold out his business in Grass Valley and went to Oakland with $8,000 in gold in his overcoat pockets. He had not been there an hour before two men "stood him up" and "cleaned him out."

The quickest dressing on record was done in an eastern boarding school recently. Two girls had a dressing match on a wager. In just seven minutes and nineteen seconds from the time she stepped out of bed, the winner was completely dressed, even to gloves and bonnet, and had her hose properly suspended.

Governor Stanford's two-year-old stallion Fred Crocker trotted a mile on Saturday in San Francisco in 2:25, the best two-year-old time on record by three-quarters of a minute. He made the first quarter in 37 seconds, the half in 1:12, and the three-quarters in 1:48.

The death of "Blue Jeans" Williams, Governor of Indiana, has taken a familiar name from American politics. Williams was a good, well-meaning man, of inferior education, but strong common sense, and invincible integrity.

A Sacramento lady's servant was so much shocked at a parian cast of the nude "Greek Slave," in the parlor that out of consideration for the girl's modesty the lady has covered the statue's legs with a red flannel petticoat.

"Raising" vaccine appears to be a profitable business. A Sacramento man has taken $250, worth of vaccine from a single heifer and expects to get $400 worth from another.

Emma Jones' letters to the Record-Union are improving. Yesterday's was excellent.

The I X L district, Churchill, Co., has a ten stamp mill in course of construction.

The thermometer stood 18 degrees below zero at Carlin last Wednesday morning.

Why She Wished Him a Comet.

Young Mr. Latchours was sitting on the porch the other night watching a seventeen-year-old girl trying to keep awake long enough to see the morning star rise. They talked astronomy. "I wish I was a star," he said, smiling at his own poetic fancy. "I would rather you were a comet," she said dreamily. His heart beat tumultuously. "And why," he asked tenderly, at the same time taking her unresisting little hands in his own; "and why?" he repeated imperiously. "Oh," she said, with a brooding earnestness that fell on his soul like a hare foot on a cold oilcloth, "because then you would only come around once every 1,500 years." He didn't say anything until he was half-way to the front gate, when he turned around and shook his fist at the house, and muttered between his teeth that "by the gods, it would be a thundering sight longer than that before he came around again." But by that time the poor girl was in bed and sound asleep.

Why the Pastor Resigned.

A tableau after Millais's familiar picture, "The Huguenots," was part of an entertainment in the Baptist Church at Canton, Kansas. The Rev. Mr. Banker, the young and handsome pastor, was chosen to pose as the male figure, but the question who should tie the scarf and be hugged was not easily settled. The pretty wife of a leading member was finally accorded that felicity. The tableau is said to have been a success; but afterward some of the sisters said that there had been a needless amount of rehearsing, the husband got furiously jealous, and the pastor resigned.

The Blushing Bonnet.

Now let the young men take warning. The "Ladies' Blushing Bonnet" is a new Parisian device. To the side ribbons which go under the chin are attached two tiny but powerful steel springs, ending in round pads, which are brought to bear upon the temporal arteries by the action of bowing the head, and by artificially forcing blood into the cheeks cause them to be suffused with crimson at a moment's notice.

A Happy Death.

A Delaware man afflicted with heart disease, and possessed of an inexplicable wish to die with his head to the north, was accustomed to lie down in the desired position whenever he felt an attack coming on. The final illness found him at a political meeting. He stretched himself on the floor, his head northward, and died with a smile of satisfaction on his face.

"Here, lend us a hand, somebody," cried good little Billy, struggling to climb over the back fence to run away to the circus. And his kind father, who happened to be near and heard him, came up and lent him a hand about the size of a sugar-cured ham, sixteen or seventeen times. And the next time he runs away to the circus Billy will try to get along alone.

"I say, Peter, can you tell the difference between a ripe watermelon and a decayed head of cabbage?" "Give it up; can't tell." Brown laughed softly as he said, "You'd be a nice man to send to buy a watermelon, you would."

Eureka doesn't want to be behind Virginia. The Sentinel is trying to induce the Base Rangers to build a skating rink.

A Lodi druggist is defendant in a trial in Stockton for $30,000 damages for giving a dose of belladonna for dandelion.

Willie Keefe, of Gold Hill, lost some fingers on Saturday by picking a giant powder cap with a nail.

It is calculated that Eureka will consume a ton of turkeys on Thanksgiving.

No Objection on Account of Age.

From the Washington Star.
A romantic marriage took place at the residence of Mr. C. B. Smith, last evening. The contracting parties were Mr. James Bowen, now in the 71st year of his age, and Miss Cassie Cissell, in her 68th year. The marriage was performed by the Rev. J. Thomas Ward, a nephew of the bride. About half a century ago the parties were lovers, and for some reason—said to have been the objection of the bride's parents on account of age—the engagement was broken off. Mr. Bowen subsequently married another lady and raised a family. Miss Cissell having lived single these many years. Mr. Bowen, whose wife died two years since, renewed his attentions and was accepted.

BORN.

MARTIN—In Reno, Nov. 20th, 1880, to the wife of Leslie Martin, a son.

MARRIED.

ARGENS-ADAMS—In Reno, Nov. 21st, 1880, by Rev. W. R. Jenney, George P. Argens of Reno, to Miss Mary Adams of Virginia.

NOTICES.

—There is a message in the telegraph office for Jeremiah Vining.

—Chase & Thyes set out first rate pork and beans for lunch every day.

—Those wishing dressed chickens see J. Drew's ad in 50 cent column.

—Sheriff Walker intended to take Frank Graham to the State Prison today.

—About 170 cattle belonging to Mapes were driven in yesterday to be sold in this market.

—There were more than twenty skaters on the reservoir yesterday. The ice was soft, and too thin for safety.

—There will be a big turkey raffle at the St. Louis Brewery on Wednesday evening, and turkey and chicken shooting on Thanksgiving day.

—A Fournier has sold out his foundry to Andrew Fraser, the proprietor of the Virginia foundry. Mr. Fournier makes his last casting on Friday.

—The show window of the Palace Bakery was broken into last night about midnight and pies, cakes, canned fruit and other nice things abstracted.

—Bichtel had to light candles last night to see if the gas was burning. Some gentlemen were playing a game and couldn't see their hands.

—The officers of justice have been doing a very busy business this month. The receipts in the Sheriff's office have amounted in all to $4.50, and that was paid on an old suit.

—A drunken squaw, extremely noisy and violent, was locked up in jail on Saturday evening. She was released last night, having sobered down.

—Stocks were in general weak this morning. Union sold down to 10. Alta, however, showed an improvement, rising under heavy sales from 4.85, the closing price on Saturday, to 5.25.

Charles Johnson's horse was badly frightened this morning at the depot. The animal took a quick turn around the block, but a heavy dray attached to him soon brought his gait down to a walk. No harm was done.

—Some of the weather prophets shook their heads forebodingly at the appearance of the sky today. From what they said it seemed pretty certain that there will be some cold weather before very long, and that the White House would sell heaps of overcoats.

WILD SHOOTING.

Too Much Seven-Up and Whisky. How A. J. Smith Was Persuaded to Let Go Of D. McFarland's Whiskers.

Towards five o'clock on Saturday afternoon D. McFarland and A. J. Smith sat down to a friendly game of seven-up in the Arcade saloon. They began with a pot of $128, and afterwards played for $30 a side. Drinks were frequently called for as the play progressed, and before the players rose from the table both had imbibed a great deal more than was good for them.

At length a dispute arose about a misdeal. At the close of a hand, McFarland held a spare card. There were $40 in the pot, a circumstance which gave considerable zest to the discussion. In the heat of the argument Smith called McFarland a s— of a b—. Thereupon they both rose up and clinched. Smith eluded McFarland's long sandy beard and pulled on it with a force and determination that caused McFarland considerable discomfort. McFarland states that he stood the uneasiness it caused him as long as possible.

At last his patience gave out, about the time the roots of his beard were giving way, and he pulled out a big pistol and struck Smith over the head a few times, to induce the latter to disengage his hand from his beard.

The pistol was a self-cocker, Mc's finger was on the trigger, and it went off three times in the scuffle. One shot lodged in the ceiling overhead, another in the east wall of the building and another in the west wall. No one was hit. The raps with the pistol had the desired effect and Smith released his hold of his adversary's hair. Then they separated. A few hours afterwards they both appeared before the bar, (not of justice,) but of the Arcade and took a drink, in which they buried all unkindness. There was no arrest. Smith refused to make any complaint against Mc.

McFarland says that he does not habitually carry a pistol. He happened to have one in his pocket on Saturday afternoon that some one had given him shortly before. He also states that he had no intention of shooting when he drew the pistol, and that the shots were entirely accidental. Any one who will take the trouble to step into the Arcade and see where the balls struck must either come to the conclusion that the shooting was accidental or that Mc. is the worst shot in the county. As Smith and Mc. are old friends, as both were full of whisky, and as Smith refused to appear against Mc., it seems only fair to accept Mc's explanation as the truth. All the same, it is believed that he will be badly hurt some day, if he isn't more careful.

The Alta and the Diamond Drill.

Says the Enterprise of yesterday: "It is quite certain that the Alta folks have cut some good ore with their diamond drill; just how much they nor no one else can tell. Prospecting with the diamond drill is very uncertain business. The drill will show the presence of ore, and that is about all that can be said for it. It will not do to make estimates as to the width of ore bodies from the assays of drillings coming out, as silver sulphurets are liable to find their way out of the drill hole for a considerable length of time after the head of the drill has passed through the ore into barren quartz. The crosscuts will tell the story. Until they are run, dealing in stocks will be so nothing of a gamble."

More Small-Pox in Virginia.

Sunday's Enterprise says: "A man named Hutton, living near the C. and C. shaft, yesterday developed a very strong case of varioloid and was taken to the pest-house. The man's body, face and head were completely covered with pustules. There are indications that one or two more cases will be developed to-day in widely different parts of the city."

A Valorous One-Legged Man.

Although Mr. Burke of Virginia City was in bed with his wooden leg off, when he woke to find a burglar in the house, he jumped out of bed and seized the intruder. The burglar fled, leaving a clue to his identity in the shape of the tail of a dark brown coat in the grasp of Mr. Burke.

Suits to be Brought.

Some of the depositors of the Reno Savings Bank have pooled their claims and suit will be brought against the trustees in a day or two. The expenses will be paid pro rata. Wm. Thompson has been appointed as the acting man.

The Four-Mile Dash.

Bradley's horse won in the four mile dash this afternoon. Time 1:35.5. 6:40, 9:58, 11:05. Dairy followed closely all the way, and came in at the finish only two lengths behind. There is money up for another race between the same horses.

Bound to Burn.

Another attempt has been made to burn down Eureka, this time by throwing a burning coal into a heap of chips and rubbish. Fortunately the fire was discovered in time to prevent doing any damage.

THE CATHOLIC FAIR.

For the Benefit of St. Mary's Academy.

Communicated.

The Catholic Fair will open to-night at the pavilion. The tables are mentioned in brief as they are seen on entering the hall. Table No. 1, presided over by Mesdames Schafer, Savage, Smith, Lovejoy, and others, is tastefully decorated in pink and white. The leading articles on this table are as follows: A pair of beautiful parlor stands, a valuable tilting silver pitcher, a silver cake basket, a young widow of superior beauty, with a number of minor beautiful articles. To this table is attached the cigar stand.

Table No. 2, "Children of Mary's table," is trimmed in blue and is in charge of Mrs. Judge Young, Miss Wilson of Newcastle and the young lady members of the Sodality. The valuable offerings here are as follows: A handsome silver tea pot, a silver cake basket, two French clocks, a gold chain and locket, a valuable gold ring, several pieces of very nice embroidery and many other handsome articles. At this table the wheel of fortune is operated, and groceries, dry goods, etc., will be disposed of by chances.

Table No. 3, draped in green, is under the supervision of Mrs. M. C. Lake, Mrs. George Alt, Miss Monchamp, of Cedarville, and Miss Recat, of Oakland. On this table may be seen a valuable gold watch, a set of decorated china, a lovely French doll elegantly dressed as a bride, a silver and cut glass pickle castor, a French clock and many pieces of useful embroidery and fancy work, (no brittle cardboard affairs) and other desirable articles.

The refreshment table is in charge of Mrs. J. Wilson and Mrs. Marshall. These ladies will be pleased to meet their old and young friends at their stand, and will take pleasure in placing before them some of the good things of life.

"Rebecca's Well," to the left of the entrance, is guarded by Miss M. Hayden. This appears to be a marvel, for, by the offer of a little silver coin, soda water, lemonade, ice water and even plain river water may be drawn from its depths by the fair Miss Hayden.

To the right of the hall entrance stands the Ice Cream Saloon. The pretty Miss Thompson of Paradise Valley is Queen of this department. She is assisted by Mrs. Fogus and Miss Mamie Alt. Miss Thompson will supply ice cream, candy, nuts and fruit, and will be pleased to serve all the young and old gentlemen with their young and old lady friends with any of the above mentioned sweets.

Another very attractive feature of the fair is the Shooting Gallery. Mr. Holland will attend to this department.

A Persian Maid will arrive during the week and engage her services to tell the fortunes of all who would look into the future through her cards. Mr. Roff, in connection with the music, is too well known in Reno to need a word in praise of the good music he will discourse during the week. It is hoped that the Fair will be well patronized, as this is the last time that the Sisters of St. Mary's will make an appeal to the public of Reno.

SA Skating rink for Virginia.

Virginia City has a skating club with sixty members. It has just been organized. Members heretofore were elected by ballot; cost, $10 each. The rink will be at the old reservoir of the old pan mill, where men are at work already putting it in repair. The Enterprise says: "The pond is 300x200 feet in size, and is inclosed with a handsome embankment. Large water pipes lead to the pond or rink, which will be very convenient for use in flooding or sprinkling the ice whenever a new surface is wanted. The Club will at once erect a suitable building at the rink. The building will be long and narrow, with seats along the sides for the accommodation of skaters. On the side next to the rink will be placed many windows. In order that spectators may comfortably watch the evolutions of persons on the rink. The rink will be one of the finest in the Union, and is very conveniently situated. Two men will be hired to attend to the rink and take care of the skates and property of the Club."

Mild Weather.

The weather has much moderated during the past few days. Yesterday was like a day in Indian summer on the Atlantic coast. Not the faintest rustling of the dry leaves on the trees told of a breath of air stirring. A deep blue haze pervaded the atmosphere and gave an appearance of indistinctness to the outlines of the mountains. The ice broke up in the ditches and grew soft on the reservoir. At 2 o'clock yesterday it was warm enough for comfort anywhere in the sunshine.

Serious Accident.

A. Nelson had both arms and it is thought both legs broken at the Jones & Kinkaid mill last evening. He fell into the pan while it was being charged. Dr. Bergman has gone out to attend him.

BY TELEGRAPH.

The Treaty With China.

CHICAGO, November 20.

An Inter-Ocean Washington special says: Leading points of the treaty negotiated between the United States and China have been transmitted to the State Department by the Commissioners in China. It is understood in general tone to be satisfactory to this Government. It modifies the Burlingame treaty in formulating the provisions for limiting or regulating Chinese immigration. The particulars are confidential and not made public except as far as indicated above. Secretary Evarts is absent in New York, so it is not known what action will be taken. No opportunity has been given for a sufficient consideration of its provisions.

Railroading in Arizona.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.

Twelve palace cars have already been engaged in New York by capitalists, for Arizona, as soon as the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road connects with the Southern Pacific, which will take place on or before the 1st of January next. Passenger trains now make regular trips as far east as the Miembres river. El Paso will be the next regular station, which the road will reach in about thirty days.

The Vote of Massachusetts.

BOSTON, November 20.

The Executive Council have completed the official canvass of the Presidential vote of this State, as follows: Garfield, 165,198; Hancock, 111,960; Weaver, 4,548; Dow, 628.

The Imperial Mine on Fire.

VIRGINIA, NEVADA, Nov. 23.

Con. Imperial is on fire on the 2,050 level. It took fire from a sconce between the time of the changing of the shifts this morning. No men are in the workings at that point. Five who were below have been taken out. Men are bulkheading to stop the fire. At one time it was under partial control, but got under way again.

LATER—THE FIRE UNDER CONTROL.

The fire in the Imperial mine has been bulkheaded, water got down, and the fire is now under control and dying out. The damage cannot be estimated till the drift can be opened again, but it cannot be heavy.

Change of Time.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.

It is reported on good authority that the overland trains will change their time on January 1st. No. 1 going east will leave San Francisco at 4:30 p. m. and take breakfast at Reno next morning. The object is to dispense with the Virginia train, which is not profitable. The change would have been made a year ago, but for the fact that the Union Pacific Company refused to make any alteration in their time.

J. Mora Moss Dead.

The Conductor's Excursion.

A special train from the east will arrive this evening with the Railroad Conductors who are on an excursion to the Pacific coast. They will spend five days out here, and will visit Virginia City, either to-morrow or on their return from San Francisco. There are many ladies in the party, numbering about two hundred in all.

Fast Time.

Coodington's division of the Central Pacific, extending from Wells to Winnemucca, 200 miles, is a favorite running ground for the boys. It is down the Humboldt on an easy and regular grade. Day before yesterday No. 2 averaged 37 1/2 miles an hour. Around the curves she ran 25 and on straight track 40 1/2 miles an hour.

The Turkey Drive.

The grand Thanksgiving drive of 500 turkeys has stopped at a point about a mile out of town. The owner has been bringing in small lots to-day in his wagon.

Turkeys can be driven at the rate of ten or twelve miles a day. They will always stay with the wagon when a halt is made, and at night will roost on the wagon or an adjoining fence. Chickens conveyed in coops, will, if released in the sage brush, return before sundown to the wagon, and most of them will re-enter their coops, the remainder roosting on the wagon.

TALK IS CHEAP,

And So Are

FINE Clothing, BOOTS, SHOES, HATS, AND BOYS' FINE FURNISHING GOODS.

If you go to the right place to get them—This is a mighty important point, for some people who assert that they sell cheap do nothing of the kind. We do not boast when we say that we defy competition in prices in anything in our line. Besides this we have only one price. We have no preferred customers. Everybody is treated alike at our establishment. Our stock is the largest and most complete ever offered in any part of this State. Everything we have is new. No old, musty and out-of-date goods can be found on our shelves. We receive daily by rail and express the latest and best goods, which are obtained at first hand and sold at prices below those now prevailing in New York and Chicago. Let the people come and judge of our prices and examine our stock before going into those humbugging, Cheap John shops, in which they drum into the ear of the customer that they sell at cost and even below cost. Anybody with common sense must know that they lie. No storekeeper sells goods for the fun of the thing. We make a profit on everything we sell, as every honest merchant does, and don't print foolish falsehoods in the vain hope of deceiving the public. One must make a profit to live. We particularly call attention to our full stock of fancy underwear, such as is kept nowhere else in Reno. This class of goods form one of our specialties. Orders from the country promptly attended to. Look out for the White Building with the Gold Sign.

The said action is brought to obtain a judgment and decree of divorce against the defendant and in favor of the plaintiff. The complaint alleges that the plaintiff and defendant were married at Hockley, in the State of New Hampshire, A. D. 1884, and lived and cohabited together until on or about the 28 day of August, A. D. 1887. That plaintiff was a true and faithful husband. That on the 28th day of August, A. D. 1887, at Reno, Nevada, defendant left plaintiff's bed and board and has ever since said time abandoned and refused to live with plaintiff, and has gone to the State of Massachusetts deserting and refusing to cohabit with plaintiff, all of which will more fully appear from the Complaint which is on file in the office of the said district court at Reno, in said county.
